This is a summary of the City of Santa Clara's latest response efforts along with impacts to local events and City programs/services due to the coronavirus (COVID-19) public health emergency.

Current Developments

- The County of Santa Clara announced amendments to the current Shelter-in-Place order that will allow multiple sectors and activities to reopen starting this Friday, June 5.
 - With adherence to social distancing protocols and safety requirements, the updated order:
 - Expands previously permitted business activity to include outdoor dining at restaurants and in-store shopping at retail locations.
 - Permits all children to take part in childcare, summer camps, summer school, or other educational and recreational programs, so long as groups are limited to 12 or fewer.
 - Allows outdoor gatherings of up to 25 people for religious services and cultural ceremonies.
 - Allows outdoor recreational activities that do not involve physical contact, such as swimming, to resume.
 - Permits car-based gatherings, including drive-in theaters.
 - According to County of Santa Clara Department of Public Health, the updated order keeps key restrictions in place, requiring people to stay in their homes except when engaging in certain essential or allowed activities.

- For the second night in a row, a citywide curfew is in effect from 8:30 p.m. to 5 a.m. Monday, June 1, 2020 in Santa Clara.
 - In collaboration with Mayor Lisa M. Gillmor and the Santa Clara Police Department, City Manager Deanna J. Santana issued a citywide curfew which went into effect Sunday, May 31 from 8:30 p.m. to 5 a.m.
 - The curfew is in place to combat the threat of looting and raiding.
 - The curfew will be reassessed after tonight to ensure there's no credible threat to the safety of our community.
 - Due to civil unrest in the neighboring city of San José that resulted in some looting and recent rioting over the weekend, City Manager Santana in her role as the Director of Emergency Services declared a local state of emergency for Santa Clara on Sunday night, May 31.
